

If your work contains any continuous tone images, like photographs, you need to set the halftone screen frequency. The proper screen frequency is determined by the paper type and printer.

Check with your service bureau for the optimum setting for your job, and then do the following:

1. Click Settings, Options.
2. Choose a screen frequency.
3. Click Close (at the bottom of the Print Options dialog box).