

You now know how to create scripts that create or change objects. The scripts you create can be as simple or complex as you want; the Script and Preset Manager keeps track of all your actions during recording.

If don't want to create your own scripts but would still like to take advantage of the Script and Preset Manager's capabilities, you might want to try out some of CorelDRAW's preset scripts. These scripts can apply pre-designed effects and attributes to almost any object. All you have to do is choose the script you want to use and the object you want to use it on.
