

When you assign a URL to an object in your drawing, you create a hyperlink to the HTML document specified in the URL. A URL is an address where the HTML document resides.

Click here for an example.

The browser uses the HTTP protocol to connect to the host on the Internet, in this example, "corel.com," and requests the document "index.htm" located in the "news" directory.