

Four Winds is a computer version of the traditional Chinese game of tiles, Mah Jong. The game was introduced in America early in the 20th century and has now become popular all over the world.