[Feedback]

Civilization: This is a GREAT game. You can play it over and over. Different world generator. Different diffuculty levels. Cons: you can't play over network and can't play against human opponents. Martin Sweitzer - Cedar Falls, Iowa

Indiana Jones and the Fate of Atlantis: Indy & the Fate of Atlantis is a great game. It's replayable, has a great plot and has superb graphics and sound (if only LucasFilm would make a Mac version of X-Wing soon...). Jeremy Condit - Gainesville, Florida

The Journeyman Project: The best game I've ever played, except for the speed, and I can't imagine how to improve that given current technology. Gary Goldberg - Bowie, MD

Space Madness: The best Mac arcade/shoot-em-up game I've played. Better than Maelstrom and Lunatic Fringe. Rodney Jacks - Austin, Texas

Spectre Supreme: Excellent example of action strategy game, good improvement over predecessor. Gary Goldberg - Bowie, MD

Wheel of Fortune: Worst sound I've ever heard in a Mac game. I've seen better shareware games than this. In fact, Phrase Craze is better. Rodney Jacks - Austin, Texas
