

TOP 10 People

Hundreds of people have worked on the Corvette over the last 44 years. Here are 10 who made a big difference.

The Corvette story is as much about people as it is about rubber, steel and fiberglass. Since 1953, Corvette engineers, designers and marketers have been putting their blood and sweat into building a world class sports car.

We thought these people should be honored, so we convened a panel of nine experts to choose our heroes: former Corvette chief engineer Dave McClellan; Karl Ludvigsen, author of The Star Spangled Sports Car; Dan Gale, former president of the National Corvette Museum; Road & Track/Car and Driver publisher William Jeanes; journalist and former Corvette stylist Peter Brock; journalist Pete Lyons; Michael Antonick, author of The Genuine Corvette Black Book; and CQ's Jerry Burton and Wes Raynal.

Here are their picks.

This article is reprinted from Corvette Quarterly Magazine, Special Collector's Edition 1997. Special thanks to the editors for allowing us to do so.