

IEClean Information

Copyright 1996, Kevin McAleavey

IEClean is designed to look for an IEXPLORE.INI file in your C:\WINDOWS directory to gather settings data. Since you have ended up at this prompt, your install is not correct.

We're not kidding. No matter where you may have installed Internet Explorer, the IEXPLORE.INI file should be in the C:\WINDOWS directory instead of where it is.

Microsoft even warns you to do this and should have moved it there all by itself. Please copy your IEXPLORE.INI file to the C:\WINDOWS directory and it should work.

Please visit <http://www.wizvax.net/kevinmca/> for further information.

