

Below you can watch the progress of your call to the Release Software Network. Just sit back while your computer works. It will tell you when it is done. Remember, your computer is calling a toll-free number, so this electronic transmission is free.