

Mole Crickets

Brownish insects that come up from the soil at night. About 1-1/2 inches long, they prefer Bahia grass and warm, moist conditions. These insects eat roots, stems, other bugs, and earthworms, and leave irregular, brown patches in the lawn. Treat the problem by spreading diatomaceous earth mixed with cheap laundry soap over the grass, or use diazmon.