

Bagworms

Bagworms overwinter as eggs inside tough silken bags constructed of bits of stem and leaf. Larvae hatching in early summer form new bags as they feed. Control bagworms by handpicking bags during the winter or by spraying when new bags appear.