

Ring Spot

Ring spot is a virus disease characterized by rings, spots, or irregular patterns on young foliage. Plant growth and fruit set are often reduced. Ring spot is common on dahlia, delphinium, tomato, peony, and cabbage plants. Spotted wilt--a virus common in western states--is found on many vegetables and ornamentals. Control as for mosaics.