

Trees are not only one of the most permanent features of your yard, they also can be the most expensive. It pays to take simple precautions, keeping them vital and growing year after year after year.