

Tidbits

- Those mysterious numbers that appear in the box above the change button show where in the deck the deuces were. We hadn't intended to leave them in the release version, but when we took them out late in testing everybody complained, so there they are.
- There's a shortcut to using the Evaluate This Draw feature. Instead of selecting it from the menu you can just click in the box where the answer appears. The command is of course available only in the middle of a hand.
- When playing by voice you can say "All Cards" rather than "Cards One two three four and five" to hold them all.
