

Galactic Trek (formerlyTrek) is my on-going creative expression in the art of programming. For those users who have followed me since the origins of my public release you know that there have been changes (and how!). For those who are new and yet uninitiated this is the classic "hunt and kill" game that has been around since the dawn of computers (See Caarthan. Shoot Caarthan. See Caarthan die.).

Shareware Plea

Galactic Trek is SHAREWARE and I reserve all rights to it. Galactic Trek may NOT be distributed on high capacity media (such as, but not limited to, CD-ROM) without my (the author's) written consent. To date I have had some number of loyal and honest people to whom you who haven't registered owe your gratitude. Without support great Shareware programs become commercial products at a higher cost. If you like Galactic Trek and would like to help support it and future projects then I request that you send $10 U.S. and the name for whom the program will be registered to me at:
