

Biochemist

ANN M. FOX

24 Kenny Drive
North Orange, NJ 07988
(201) 377-9876

Science Complex, Biology
Georgetown University
Washington, D.C. 67560

OBJECTIVE

Position as biochemistry research technician

EXPERIENCE

Two years' experience at Georgetown University, Washington, D.C., June 1990 to present

Duties

- ☒ Organizing experiments—Full charge of scheduling and planning experiments; setting up and dismantling of equipment; and coordinating research with other laboratory activities.
- ☒ Dissecting specimens—Responsibility for all routine dissections and for conduct of toxicity tests.
- ☒ Maintaining manual—Full charge of laboratory manual, including manual custody and accuracy of all entries made by staff.
- ☒ Environmental reports—Arrange lectures on environmental subjects on medical waste, disposal, and safety.

One year's experience as biology teacher at FOXHILL HIGH SCHOOL, Bloomside, N.J., September 1989 to June 1990. Taught additional courses in chemistry and general science.

EDUCATION

Master of Science in biology, UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO, June 1989, concentrated in biochemistry.

Bachelor of Science in biology, UNIVERSITY OF PITTSBURGH, June 1987, with a minor in chemistry.

HONORS AND AWARDS

- ☒ Ecology Essay Award by the Professional Women's Environmental Association of Illinois.
- ☒ Phi Beta Kappa, University of Pittsburgh.

REFERENCES

References will be furnished upon request.