

Find a favorable balance in this water garden. By keeping your pond small, it won't overwhelm the energy of the rest of the garden. The balance between the rocks, water and plants (wood) are representative of favorable energy.

Plant this garden in the north, northeast or southeast area of your lot. When planting in the northeast, add a few perennial herbs, low crawling plants, and some large rocks. If you are planting in the southeast, add more plants, especially those with red and or yellow flowers placed towards the southern portion of the garden.
