

This design evokes a tranquil, delicate environment with natural elements including boulders and carefully pruned greenery. Although cohesively designed, there is no formal geometry, just irregularity, embodied by pathways which meander throughout the landscape.