

Late summer is when this garden really struts its stuff. It comes alive with a brilliant array of vibrant shades in midsummer and lasts well into autumn. Remember to mulch perennials well for winter and prune lightly in early spring for a garden that is at its most verdant when others are beginning to fade.