

Red Japanese Maple shrubs flank either side of the house in this typical New England style garden. The raised bed is filled with mid-summer blooming flowers such as the pink delphinium, bee balm, and daylilies. The small patio has furniture for late afternoon tea gatherings with friends and the light post gives illumination to the area during the evening.