

Shade gardens are usually designed to emphasize foliage textures, arrangements and contrasts, rather than flower colors. Offering more flowers than the norm, this is a garden you can plant on the side of the house or area of the yard that gets little or no sun. This garden will thrive for many years in shade or partial shade and provide lots of blooms for cut flowers in your home.