

A terraced landscape allows you to convert steep terrain to broad steps that provide showplaces for plants and keep the soil from washing downhill. Stone and wood retaining walls support the terraces; wooden stairs connect them.