

This beautiful garden is an example of what happens when rock and water elements are combined. Water plants such as cat tails and water lettuce are placed in the water. Small flowering plants fill the spaces between the rocks. Place the garden next to a swing for a calming effect or in a corner of the yard away from the noise of the street.