Tiles and Bones

Tiles (Pai)

Mahjong set consists of 136 tiles. These are divided into two groups. One is honors and other is suits.

Suit tiles (Suu-pai)

The suit tiles consists of three different suites,numberd from 1 through 9, four of each number.

The suit tiles numberd 1 and 9 (left and right side of BMP)is called terminales and considered honors. The tiles 2 through 8 are called simples.

The three suits are:

Characters (Wan-zu)

Dots (Pin-zu)

Bamboos (Sou-zu)

Honor tiles (Ji-pai)

The honor tiles are consists of four winds and three dragons. there are four of each.

Winds (Hon-pai)

There called East, South, West, North (Ton, Nan, Syar, Pei) from left to right.

Dragons (Sangen-pai)

Bones (Ten-bou)

Real Mahjong set contains a set of bones used for scoring like the chips in poker.

The bones should be valued at 100,1000,5000,10000.

In TOUZAI-Mahjong, 1000 score bone is used "Declare Ready".

100 score bone is used to count numbers of the dealer is dealing.
It means only a imitating of the real mahjong.

Others are not used.

Playing

The Goal of Majang
Playing procedure

The Goal of Majang

The goal of the game is completing hands. there are three patterns of fourteen tiles.

1. Normal Type.

Composed of four sets of three tiles each (sequence or triplet or four), plus pair.

2. Seven Twins Type.

3. Thirteen Orphans Type .

Playing procedure

Almost all procedure is going on automatically.

1. The 136 tiles are well mixed and builded two high wall. all is kept face down without second tile from dead end of wall. The face up tile is called Double tile.

2. East(= Dealer) gets fourteen tiles. others get thirteen tiles.

3. East begins hand by discarding a tile. Play proceeds to East's right. Each player take one tile from wall and discard a tile. The game is played counter-clock-wise.

4. If you wish to use a discarded tile to make a sequence, triplet or four in your hand, you can declare Chow, Pung or Kong.

5. When you need only one tile to go out, your hand is ready. You can declare Ready.

6. When another player discards or you draw the tile that completes your hand, you may declare Out.

7. if no one has gone out by the time the wall is 14 tiles, it is draw.

8. A round of play consists of a minimum of four hands, and a game consists of four rounds. But it takes much time to play, Japan and TOUZAI-Mahjong have adopted two rounds(= half game). if you haven't enough time, you can play a quota game.

First round is east wind round, second is south wind round

You can select east wind round once more.

|----------|--------|-------|-------|
| player 1 | 27,000 | 0 | 0 |
| player 2 | 52,000 | 20 | 100 |
| player 3 | 30,500 | 1 | 5 |
| player 4 | 10,500 | -19 | -95 |

Chow (Chii, Naki)

If you have two of the three members necessary to make a sequence, and the player on your left discards the missing member, then you may declare "Chow" and claim the discarded tile instead of drawing from the wall.

Pung(Pong,Toi)

If you have pair in your hand and any player discards same tile, you may declare "Pung" and claim the discarded tile instead of drawing from the wall. You must discard the tile you want from your hand. The play then continues to your right.

Kong(Kang)

There are two types of four. One is concealed, other is melded. If you have a four same tiles in your hand, you may declare "Kong"(double click right mouse button) and make a concealed four.

There are two ways to make a melded four. TOUZAI-Mahjong ask you to make a melded four in this case.

1. You have a triplet in your hand and any player discards fourth, you may declare "Kong" and claim the discarded tile.
2. Melding your triplet and you draw fourth form the wall, you may declare "Kong" and claim the drawn tile.

In any case of a kong, you must also draw a tile from dead wall to make up this deficit. After drawing the tile, then you discard one.

Out(Ron,Tumo)

When you need one tile to go out, your hand is ready.
anyone discarded the tile that completes your hand, you may declare "Out(Ron)" and take the discarded tile. In this game , TOUZAI-Mahjong automatically ask you instead of you declare "Out(Ron)".

This case called "Discarded".

If you have the tile to go out in your previously discarded tiles, you only go out drawn from the wall.

If you draw the tile that completes your hand you may declare "Out(Tumo)".

This case called "Self-drawn".

You may double click right mouse button in this game.
