

This is a document to test the HyperDoc help development system....
If you want, you can paste some sections from hyperdoc.doc to make this file bigger!

Heading One

There are to be three topics in this first heading: (under style of Heading1)
Notice the words that are double underlined. They are meant to be for cross referencing.
Try and jump to the Lone-Section if you can.

1-1 Title 1

This is title 1 defined under Heading2. There are a lot of things that can be done with this document. You can view it sequentially with the > and < keys or move around with any of the other buttons. Try jumping to the Lone-Section

1-2 Title 2

This is title 2 defined also under Heading2, but nothing interesting here.....

1-3 Title 3

This is title 3 also defined under Heading2

1-3.1 Sub-Title

This Sub-Title is under Heading3.

Heading Two

This Heading Two topic is under the style of Heading1

2-1 Lone-Section

This Lone-Section is under Heading2 as well! However I hope you can now see that it is very easy to use the HyperDoc authoring system to transform a simple MS Word for Windows document to a Hypertext file which is what you're reading now :))

Heading Three

- This Heading Three topic is under the style of Heading1 as well, but has no other topics under it.....
- Notice that bullets come out well.
- See you!!!
