The Commodore Amiga Technical Newsletter

Amiga Mail

Amiga Mail is published six times annually by the Commodore Applications and Technical Support Group (CATS) . Our purpose is to support third-party developers of Amiga software and hardware add-ons world-wide by providing technical information and programming guidelines . Each issue features a collection of news and technical articles of special interest to Amiga product developers.

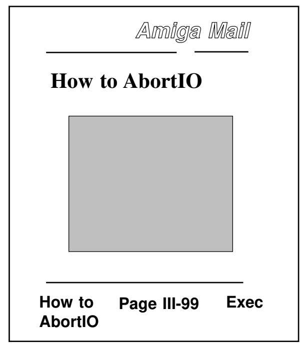
The technical articles in each issue can be saved for future use in the Amiga Mail Tech Notes binder, a reference notebook containing all the articles from past issues of Amiga Mail. The Amiga Mail Tech Notes binder is published annually by the CATS group and is available to all developers registered with the Commodore support program.

For filing technical articles in the Amiga Mail Tech Notes binder, just use the section and page numbers listed at the bottom of each article. The Tech Notes section is shown as a roman numeral followed by the page number within that section.



For instance the article at right would be filed in section III of the Amiga Mail Tech Notes binder, "Exec." The article starts on page 99 of that section in the binder.

For more information on the Amiga Mail Tech Notes binder and the Commodore Developer Support Program, contact the CATS group at (215) 431-9180.
