

Third-Party ProductsDa sampler CDROM

Welcome to the Third-Party Products disc, a sampler providing you direct, hands-on access to some of the applications described in the Third-Party Products catalog. On this disc, you'll find a wide variety of demonstration applications—from spreadsheets, word processors, and presentation applications to utilities, database tools, and NEXTSTEP objects. Explore the demos, review the product descriptions in the catalog, and contact vendors directly for more information.

The applications, listed below according to category, are arranged on the disc by developer. Unless otherwise noted, they run on both Motorola and Intel-based NEXTSTEP. You can run some of these demonstration applications directly from the CD-ROM. Some of these applications need to be copied to your hard drive before they will function correctly and some come with installer packages to speed up the transfer to your hard disk drive. Note that, as demonstration versions, each application is disabled in some way. Some won't save or print, and in some cases the application is functional only for a limited amount of time.
