

Third-Party Software Sampler

Welcome to the Fall 1993 Third-Party Software Sampler, a disc providing you direct, hands-on access to some of the third-party applications currently shipping for NEXTSTEP™. On this disc, you'll find a wide variety of demonstration products—from spreadsheets, word processors, and presentation applications to utilities, database tools, and NEXTSTEP objects. You can explore the demos, review the product descriptions in the catalog, and contact vendors directly for more information.

The applications, listed below according to category, are arranged on the disc by developer. They all run on both NEXTSTEP for Intel® processors and NEXTSTEP for NeXT™ computers. You can run some of these demonstration applications directly from the CD-ROM. Other applications need to be copied to your hard disk drive before they will function correctly; some of these come with installer packages to speed up the transfer. Note that, as demonstration versions, each application is disabled in some way. Some won't save or print, and in some cases an application is functional only for a limited amount of time.
