TAdrockSourceSearcher Expert

Version 1.00 7 December 1995

Registration

The TAdrockSourceSearcher expert is an expert that is accessed through the help menu of Delphi. With this expert you can search through the current Delphi Project for text in all of the .PAS files.

You simply enter the text you want to find and the click search and the expert will search through all the selected files. When the expert is first opened all the .PAS files in the project are highlighted, you may select or unselect as many of the files as needed.

When lines are found they are added to a list box displaying the filename, and the location in that file where the text was found.

You can then view the text in the built in viewer, or you can just opt to load the file into delphi, or perform another search.

Once the file is loaded into delphi you can locate the line where the text was found by going into the search dialog of delphi, and then pasting into the search field. The line where the text was found has been placed into the clipboard for you.
