

This temple was probably built at the same time as the one in the Valley. It's in a relatively better shape, though. Here's a statue of the saint, whose face resisted very well the passage of time. It looks like an old lady, strong and imposing, who looks down on you with a mix of good-naturedness and strongwill.