

It's a trap! Some boulders come down with a roar at your back, blocking all escape possibilities. The Spirit of Darkness itself advances upon you, with a strike force of dreaded undead followers. Its voice sounds like steel scraping a sheet of ice: "This is your end, adventurer. This is where you end being such a fuss".